News from the Center for Global Communication Studies

Volume Three, Number Two, April 2010

!!Subscribe!!

In this issue:

1. Milton Wolf Seminar Pictures
2. Price Moot Court Results
3. Laughing Matters Exhibit at Arthur Ross Gallery
4. Visiting Scholar: Sahana Udupa
5. Upcoming CGCS Events
6. About CGCS

---

Photos from the Milton Wolf Seminar

The 2010 Milton Wolf Seminar took place March 17-19 in Vienna, Austria. CGCS served as co-organizer, along with the American Austrian Foundation and the Diplomatic Academy of Vienna. More details available at the CGCS web site.

Left, essay contest Winners Kate Furman, Maria Egupova and ASC student Felicity Duncan. Right, panelists Shawn Powers and former CGCS visiting scholar Augusto Valeriani

---

Third Annual Price International Moot Court Competition

27 teams from more than 18 countries competed in Oxford in the 3rd annual Price Moot Court Competition from March 24 to 27.
Moot Court Competition Judges

The team from Singapore Management University and School of Law won first place, with the Cardozo Law School team coming in second.

Singapore Team with Prof. Monroe Price

Laughing Matters: Soviet Propaganda in Khrushchev’s Thaw, 1956-1964

Now on display at the Arthur Ross Gallery: an exhibit of Soviet propaganda, including a large number of pieces from Monroe Price and Aimée Brown Price’s collection. More details available from the Arthur Ross Gallery.

CGCS Visiting Scholar Profile:
Sahana Udupa (Feb-May 2010)

Sahana Udupa is a doctoral candidate at National Institute of Advanced Studies, Bangalore, India. Her work explores the interface between the globalising city of Bangalore and the new news cultures that have emerged after 1990, with a broader goal of theorising the relationship between contemporary journalistic practices and formation of urban publics. She is especially concerned with the bilinguality of the news field and how this shapes news practices and content. She draws on sociological and social anthropological approaches to comprehend the changing field of news production in post-liberalization India, using Bangalore as a particular case study.

Prior to beginning her doctoral studies, Sahana worked as a research associate for a sociological study on the IT professionals in Bangalore and Europe. Her articles have been published in Economic and Political Weekly and e-social sciences and some are forthcoming in peer-reviewed journals. She also has professional experience in print and television journalism. She continues to write for English and Kannada (regional language) newspapers and literary magazines.

Upcoming CGCS Events

CGCS Visiting Scholars Lunchtime Discussion
April 22, 12-1:30pm, ASC 300: Carlo Nardella & Oulai Bertrand Goué

Please rsvp to Laurel Eisenach by Tues, April 20 at 12pm. Lunch will be provided on a first-come, first-served basis.

About CGCS

The director of CGCS is Professor Monroe E. Price, a leading authority on issues relating to media and civil society, media law and policy advocacy, and the intersection between communication, development, and globalization. CGCS staff includes Libby Morgan, Senior Research Coordinator; Laurel Eisenach, Project Coordinator; and Drew Cahan, Grants Coordinator. More information on CGCS Staff.

Center for Global Communication Studies
Annenberg School for Communication
University of Pennsylvania
202 South 36th Street
Philadelphia, PA 19104-3806
215-898-9727

Comments and suggestions for the newsletter may be forwarded to Laurel Eisenach.